The Cancer Care Center for Beauty & Confidence

VCU Health Tappahannock Hospital established the Jeri Sibley VCU Health Tappahannock Cancer Wellness Fund after Jeri, a dedicated team member at the hospital for more than 15 years, lost her courageous battle with cancer. Much like in her career where she served as a mentor to so many, she spent her time as a cancer patient focused on improving every aspect of the patient experience.

Cancer patients often struggle with confidence as they face a daunting diagnosis, treatments that may leave them feeling tired or run down, and a changing appearance that may come from losing their hair or changes to their complexion.

Jeri knew that looking good and being put together was an important foundation for success. The Cancer Center for Beauty & Confidence honors her legacy by supporting those walking a similar journey – with compassion, sass, humor and flawless lipstick.

Cancer patients in Tappahannock and the Northern Neck can access the Cancer Center for Beauty & Confidence, located in the VCU Health Tappahannock Cancer Center.

- Wig fitting and styling
